Playing the violin entails holding the instrument under the chin, supported by the left shoulder (see below for variations of this posture). The strings are sounded either by drawing the bow across them (), or by plucking them (). The left hand regulates the sounding length of the strings by stopping them against the fingerboard with the fingers, producing different notes.

Rosin, also called colophony or Greek pitch (Latin: pix gr̄aīca), is a solid form of resin obtained from pines and some other plants, mostly conifers, produced by heating fresh liquid resin to vaporize the volatile liquid terpene components. It is semi-transparent and varies in color from yellow to black. At room temperature rosin is brittle, but it melts at stove-top temperature.
