is_file() is a PHP function that checks whether a file exists and is accessible. It returns true on success and false on failure. It is similar to the file_exists() function, but it also checks whether the file is readable. The file must be readable by the user of the script. If the file is not readable, is_file() will return false, even if the file exists.

Hi, I totally agree with you, but I have some other thoughts and lets just put aside the fact that jQuery is not a framework. I have just spent 6 months wrangling Django, more specifically the admin side of the framework, and yes, it is an opinionated beast.
